HBA of F-M wins Association Excellence Awards

Fargo, N.D. – The Home Builders Association of Fargo-Moorhead recently received Association Excellence Awards for “Best Parade of Homes” and “Best Government Affairs Effort Locally.” Awards were presented during the annual National Association of Home Builders’ Executive Officers Council Seminar in Santa Fe, N.M.

The “Best Parade of Homes” award was given for the HBA’s Spring Parade of Homes that celebrated its 50th annual event in 2010. “Best Government Affairs Effort Locally” was for working with local city governments to promote housing incentives for consumers and builders.

The AEAs are an annual award program designed to recognize the outstanding accomplishments of both state and local HBAs, and executive officers in the field of association management. The Executive Officers Council consists of the staff executives who manage the over 800 state and local builders associations that comprise the National Association of Home Builders. The HBA of F-M has won 14 AEA awards since 2000.

The HBA of F-M has been in existence since 1956 and represents more than 820 home builders and their associates in the housing industry throughout the Fargo-Moorhead area. The association is a nonprofit organization representing the building industry in several community events and projects throughout the area.

HBA of F-M executive officer Bryce Johnson has been with the HBA since 1992, serving as executive vice president since April 1998.

“I am very proud of the accomplishments of our association and the hard work of our staff,” said Johnson. “To receive an Association Excellence Award and to be recognized by one’s peers is truly the ultimate compliment.”
